

Government of Good Sense Wanted, States Coolidge in Address

Honesty and Economy in Affairs at Home and Peace Abroad Set Forth by Republican Candidate for Presidency in Acceptance Speech as Principles on Which He Will Seek Election.

Would Further Cut Surtaxes

Chief Executive Says Too High Rates Drain Source Dry and Increase Burden to Be Placed Upon Those Who Pay Lower Percentages—Also Stresses Agriculture.

Washington, Aug. 14.—In stately Memorial Continental hall, President Coolidge tonight formally accepted his nomination as the presidential candidate of the Republican party.

The nominee definitely opened his campaign with a recital of the accomplishments of the administration and a promise of a "government of common sense."

Honesty and economy in the government at home and peace abroad were set forth by the President to his audience to party leaders, and the general public as principles on which he will seek election.

The intense heat of the past few weeks had given way to moderate, even cool, temperature, and President Coolidge, dressed in a formal cutaway coat, was comfortably at ease as he delivered his address, which was punctuated by characteristic, short, pointed sentences.

Mondell Expects More Prosperity.

The historic hall, scene of the armament limitation conference in 1921 and seating about 2,000 persons, was filled with applause several times as the President emphasized the major points of his address. Outside, another throng listened to the ceremonies carried out by amplifiers, while radio broadcasting instruments transmitted the proceedings to an invisible audience of countless numbers throughout the country.

Frank W. Mondell, as permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention, formally tendered Mr. Coolidge the nomination, the choice resulting, he said, from a demand of the people, "freely and emphatically expressed."

"Under your leadership," Mr. Mondell declared, "we look forward to a continued opportunity for service to the honor of the republic and the progress and prosperity of its people."

William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, presided at the simple exercises, which were opened by an invocation pronounced by the Rev. Jason Nobel of the First Congregational church where President Coolidge worships in Washington. With them on the platform were members of the nomination committee, including one delegate from each state.

President Would Cut Taxes Further.

Members of the national committee, Republicans of states occupied floor seats with the public behind them and in the galleries.

After reviewing the accomplishments of the Republican national administration, Mr. Coolidge, looking to the future, proposed further tax reduction, appointment of a committee to investigate and report to conference means of aiding agriculture, and another conference to consider further limitation of armaments.

Laying particular stress on domestic affairs, the nominee further demanded economy in government, administration and consequent further reduction in taxes, particularly the high surtax rates. He told of the administration's efforts through legislation to aid farmers but reminded his audience that this relief must come, essentially, as he said it had, through the working out of economic laws.

Referring again to a probable "discussion of liberal thought and progress in action" in the campaign, Mr. Coolidge declared that such is well enough for the country "but it's great, as far as common sense."

Want Government of Common Sense.

In the common place things of life to be required, lies the strength of the nation. It is not in brilliant oration and strokes of genius that can set the chief reliance of our country, in the home, in the school and in religion, America will remain strong.

The farmer should have the benefit of legislation providing for flood control and development of inland waterways, better navigation east and south from the Great Lakes, reclamation and especially relief for those who cannot meet their payments on irrigation projects. But the main problem is marketing. Cooperative effort, reorganization of the freight rate structure, good business and good wages in manufacturing, and the settlement of European affairs will all help to provide better market conditions.

Denouncing as short sighted the idea of "demagogues" for overtaxing the rich, Mr. Coolidge demanded a further cut in surtax rates applying on high incomes.

I want further tax reduction and I want to see that the people of this country will find that a larger power has endowed the people with an inherent spirit of resistance. The people know the difference between progress and reality. They want to tell the truth. They want to work out their own material and spiritual salvation. The people are a segment of civilization.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and John, their son, at the White House, only a short distance from the hall, just before the doors opened at 8 o'clock, and was received by Mr. Mondell and Mrs. Frank W. Mondell and friends.

He said the power of the press is reflected in the left of the stage.

Desires Easier Tax Law.

"I want the people of America to have the right to vote for the government further tax reduction and more and more for themselves." This is what they have to have the right to appoint a committee of their own industries. That is the exact opposite of what they are doing now.

Psychiatrists Admit Conclusions Leopold and Loeb Are Same Arrived at After Brief and Casual Examinations

(By the Associated Press)

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Two attorneys for the state admitted under cross-examination today in the hearing to determine punishment for Richard Loeb and Nathan Leopold, Jr., for kidnapping and murdering Robert Franks, that their conclusions that the youths were sane were arrived at after brief conversations under unfavorable conditions and perfunctory physical examinations.

Cross-examination of the two doctors—Dr. Hugh T. Patrick and Dr. Archibald Church, Chicago psychiatrists—occupied virtually the entire day. Dr. Church's direct testimony taking only a few minutes.

The proceedings were enlivened by a three-cornered clash between Dr. Church, Clarence S. Carroll, chief of defense counsel, and Robert E. Crowe, state attorney, curtailed only when Judge John H. Caverly ordered a five-minute recess.

Mr. Darrow was questioning Dr. Church as to the guise under which he had approached the youths.

Defense Counsel Apologizes.

"Now isn't it fact that you went to them only for the sake of getting evidence on which they could be hanged?" Mr. Darrow shot at the witness.

The principle of protection.

The Child Labor Amendment.

The Permanent Court of International Justice.

Further Limitation of Armaments.

Support by the government in encouraging American citizens and resources to assist in restoring Europe.

Enforcement of the prohibition laws.

Specifically he declared opposition to any general extension of government ownership and control and to aggressive war.

The nominee laid particular stress on agriculture, taxes and foreign relations.

Efforts of the administration to relieve agriculture through enactment of 13 laws were recalled by the President, but he insisted "we now need in agriculture more organization, cooperation, and diversification." He added that the "fundamental remedy was provided, as it always must be provided, not so much through enactment of legislative laws, as through the working out of economic laws." Because of this he said, price fixing by legislation must be avoided.

Flood Control Advocated.

"Now that nature and economic law have given some temporary relief" he continued, "I propose to appoint a committee to investigate and report measures to the congress in December that may help secure this result which we all desire."

The farmer should have the benefit of legislation providing for flood control and development of inland waterways, better navigation east and south from the Great Lakes, reclamation and especially relief for those who cannot meet their payments on irrigation projects. But the main problem is marketing. Cooperative effort, reorganization of the freight rate structure, good business and good wages in manufacturing, and the settlement of European affairs will all help to provide better market conditions.

Golf AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

What are some additional points in getting good tee shots and good brassie shots?

Answered by DAVID BROWN

Veteran tournament player, former British open champion. Noted especially for his short game and accuracy on approach.

I recommend that the average golfer "take these tips to heart" if he wishes to improve his work with the wooden clubs. Some of the pointers also hold for the irons.

At the right elbow and left knee bend for the upward swing, pivot slightly on the left ball of the left foot and a little at the waist. However, in doing this, do not exaggerate it so that the left foot feels "shaky." The left foot should always hold firmly to the ground, and at the end of the swing this foot should not have moved appreciably from its original position. As a last pointer, practice until you can bring your club down in the same arc which you use to the complete the upswing. If you master this last point you will notice a decided tendency for hooks and slices to die out of your game.

The Most Famous Battery

CHRISTY MATHESON.

What wouldn't baseball fans give to see "Matty" and Bresnahan in action once more, performing in all their old-time glory? What a battery that was—with "Big C" mowing down the opposing team like a machine gun and the aggressive, fearless Roger on the receiving end of the famous "fadeaway."

Christy Mathewson was undoubtedly the greatest pitcher of them all, and he was so well known and such a national hero that it is said that a letter merely addressed with a big number six and "U. S. A." would always reach him. His winning fight for life against tuberculosis, and his come-back into baseball as manager of the Boston Braves have endeared him more than all ball fans.

Roger Bresnahan, whom McGraw took with him to New York when he deserted the American League in 1902, was not only a wonderful catcher, but a great utility player as well. He could pitch, catch and play the infield and the outfield with equal ability. He was probably the only catcher who ever led off in the batting order for a championship club.

Mathewson and Bresnahan starred in the world's series of 1905, when "Matty the Great" won three games and lost none against the Athletics, pitching 27 scoreless innings. Matty also worked in the world's series of 1911, '12 and '13.

SILVER WARNS AUTOMISTS OF DANGER WITH VERSE

Trenton, N. J., Aug. 14. — "Stop and let the train go." —

"It hardly takes a minute,

"Your car starts out again intact,

"And better still—you're in it."

This bit of verse Governor Silzer quoted yesterday as a reminder to automobileists to exercise caution and avoid the dangers of increasing grade crossing accidents.

LOCAL MENTION

The schedule of the Twilight Baseball League will be resumed again Monday evening.

The concert announced to be given at the county farm on Sunday by Keeton's band has been postponed on account of the absence from the city of several members of the organization.

The Italian celebration of assumption will be held at Neahwa park this evening at 7 o'clock, culminating in a $100 display of fireworks at 10:30 o'clock, and doubtless there will be a large crowd to watch the festivities.

Thirty guests, including one from out of town, Miss Ruth Whitehead of Herkimer, were present at the bridge luncheon given by Miss Edith Engleton at the County club yesterday. The prize winners were Miss Julia Winsor and Miss Alice Ford.

There was no speaker at yesterday luncheon of Oneonta Rotary club, the session being given over entirely to business. Committee chairman gave reports as to the activities of their bodies since the beginning of the club year and various matters of importance to the members were discussed.

In the qualifying semi-final round of the men's singles city championship tournament Charles defeated Darling, Getman defeated Townsend, G. Smith defeated Diabrow and Hemstreet won from Lee by default. In the semi-final round Getman beat G. Smith, 6-4, 6-0. The semi-finals match between Charles and Hemstreet must be played by tomorrow night so that the final can be played next week.

ONEONTA VERSUS ELMIRA

Giants Will Try to Make It Three Straight From Colonels This Afternoon at Neahwa Park.

Roy Thomas' Oneonta Giants tasted defeat yesterday afternoon when they whipped the Elmira Colonels in both ends of the doubleheader and are in just the mood to carry the battle to Leo Hanley's men this afternoon in the third encounter of the four game series. Elmira is fighting to keep ahead of Wilkes-Barre and so the result when the two clubs meet should be decidedly interesting.

The good sized crowd yesterday saw just what they wanted to. In the fore part of the afternoon the fans witnessed as thrilling a ball game as has been played here in years and during the nightcap engagement they watched with glee while Oneonta rode roughshod over the visitors. Victor will probably be Thomas' sound choice today while Hanley's same Lee who used to visit Oneonta with the never-to-be-forgotten Endicott-Johnson team — will undoubtedly trot out one of his ace in an endeavor to retrieve the fortunes of his club. The game will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Elmira will close its engagement here on Saturday and on the next day the first Sunday baseball game shown at Neahwa will occur. A crowd is expected to see the Giants and the Harrisburg Senators mix it on that day. Harrisburg, a club which includes among its pitchers Jim Mahaffy, the old Unadilla twirler, and Schreiber, lately with the Brooklyn Nationals, will also play here on Monday and Tuesday.

STATE PRESIDENT A GUEST.

Mrs. Emily Biells of Utica to Visit Royal Rebekahs Sept. 2.

On September 3 Royal Rebekah Lodge No. 161 expects to entertain the president of New York State Assembly, Mrs. Emily Biells of Utica and a large number of her staff coming from all parts of the state. There will be a banquet at 6 o'clock served by the Episcopal women in St. James' Parish house which will be $1.00 a plate. There also will be a reception at the lodge rooms followed by a regular meeting with initiation. All of the judges of this district are invited, also all Rebekahs belonging to other lodges now living in town. Those in charge of the affair hope for a large attendance in honor of Mrs. Biells' visit.

OPPOSE SUNDAY BASEBALL

Unanimous Opposition of More than 1,000 Persons to First Baptist Prayer Meeting Last Evening.

At the regular prayer service of the First Baptist church held last evening a vote was taken to determine the feeling of those present in regard to Sunday baseball which was approved for Oneonta at a special meeting of the Common Council on Tuesday evening, but, and every person in the audience, women largely predominating, was strongly against the move.

While there has been no little comment about the proposition, both in favor of and opposed to, about the city streets this week this is the first concerted expression which has been made, and later developments will be watched with great interest.

The meeting last evening it was stated that in view of the fact that the referendum held June 16, 1919, a majority of 923 votes was cast in opposition to Sunday baseball, and papers, bringing him into a position that in the mind of the meeting the Common Council had no reason to believe that the sentiment of the citizens of the city had changed to a favorable one since that time.

The referendum of 1919 was held to enable the Council to know the sentiment in the city and to guide it in its course. Following the referendum the Council took adverse action on the question of Sunday baseball.

Just what action will be taken, if any, to cause a reconsideration of the Sunday baseball proposal was not determined at the meeting last evening.

A PECCULAR FIRE

Ford Touring Car of D. D. Anderson of This City Caught Fire When Gasoline Overflow from Tank on Exhaust Pipe.

The fire in which the Ford touring car of D. D. Anderson of 22 Railroad avenue, this city, was considerably damaged on Wednesday evening at about 10 o'clock near the corner of Luther and Main streets was a most peculiar one, and while no definite explanation has been made it is thought that gasoline, overflowing from a filled tank in the car and falling on the red hot exhaust pipe of the machine was the cause.

Gasoline had just been put into the car at the pump of the Public Service garage, and as John Hendell, an employee, was draining the hose some of the gasoline ran over from the filled tank and immediately fire sprung from all over the under side of the machine.

The fire department was called shortly after the fire was discovered, but much damage had been done to the machine before their arrival and in spite of the fact that the blaze was immediately checked, the car was almost a wreck. The blow is a severe one to Mr. Anderson who was covered by insurance, since the car was not completely paid for.

A number of the audience of the Knights of Birmingham circus noticed the blaze not far from the tent, which was augmented by many who accompanied the fire department to the scene, made a considerable crowd.

PETER PETERSON BANKRUPT.

Proprietor of Oneonta Hotel Declining Assets.

Utica, Aug. 14.—Peter Peterson, proprietor of a dining room at 192 Main street, Oneonta Hotel building, Oneonta, filed a petition in bankruptcy in federal court today with assets and debts of $1,157. The petition was filed through Attorney Everett B. Holmes.

L. & G. N. Howe, $119; Oneonta Grocery, $12; W. W. Capron, $24; Oneonta Produce Co., $70; Lauren Palmer, $72; B. P. O. Elks, rent, $175.

Edie Hamm, $25; May Hamilton, $25; Lucy Moon, $11; John DeGraaf, $11; Bert Wilcox, $22; William Alford, $21; V. G. Smith, $22, and May Dorden, $20, all of Oneonta; Corbin & Wasserman, of Binghamton, $15.

Those in charge of the affair hope for a large attendance in honor of Mrs. Biells' visit.

SOCIETY CIRCUS PLEASING.

Residents May See Fireworks Display After Evening Performance Tonight.

An announcement is made that the evening performance of the Knights of Birmingham circus that evening will close at 10:15 o'clock in order that all may attend the circus and the fireworks display at Neahwa park this evening at 10:30 o'clock. It is stated that the full program can be presented before that time.

The circus has been drawing capacity crowds all this week and it is expected to draw the many additional acts this and Saturday evenings.

A surprise worth while is promised for this evening in connection with the circus. An additional act is to be added to the main performance at a short additional charge and it is hoped that the public will remain for the duration of the program in this evening.

OF PIONEER ONEONTA FAMILY

WARREN-HALL NUPTIALS.

Mrs. Caroline Enos Bay Succumbs to Shock at Home of Brother, A. J. Enos—Funeral Saturday.

Mrs. Caroline Enos Bay, a descendant of one of the pioneer Oneonta families and a life-long resident of Oneonta, died yesterday morning at about 2 o'clock at the home of her brother, A. J. Enos, 38 Maple street, where she had been for ten days, as a result of shock coupled with the infirmities of age. Mrs. Bay was 82 years of age and had been in failing health for nearly a year.

Funeral services will be held from the Enos home Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with Rev. W. C. Dodge of the Elm Park Methodist Episcopal church officiating in the absence of her pastor, Rev. Dr. C. S. Pendleton of the Main Street Baptist church from the city. Burial will be made in Glenwood cemetery.

Surviving Mrs. Bay are three brothers, Charles Enos and A. J. Enos of this city, and Ford Enos of Jersey City, N. J.; an adopted brother, Enos Beams, also of Oneonta; a sister, Mrs. Pollyanne Winney, of Oneonta, and many nieces and nephews.

Caroline Enos Bay was born January 22, 1842, the daughter of Asahel and Anna Beams Enos of this city. She was spent in the town of Oneonta with the exception of 12 years when she lived in Milford.

She was united in marriage with Alonso Bay in 1865. He died in 1901. She was much beloved woman, and respected by a wide circle of friends and acquaintances. She had been a member of the Main Street Baptist church of this city since 1888, and was active in church work.

The family will have the sympathy of a host of friends in its bereavement.

Gifted Youth To Be Given Chance

Lake Placid Club's Educational Plan

decorated only "the dark unfathomed caves of ocean."

Melvyn Dewey, President of the Lake Placid Club in the Adirondacks, discounts the poet's philosophy of despair. He believes that the world can be saved by its potential geniuses, and proposes to find them instead of allowing them to blight unseen.

Backed by his Club, which he founded 30 years ago, he is not only offering healing to fagged "intellectuals," but planning to seek our gifted youth with a possible contribution to the world. In short, chartered by the State of New York, the Lake Placid Club has recently established an Education Foundation that through bequests or gifts already amounts to $1,000,000. Unadvertised and unheralded this enterprise, which at first seemed merely quixotic, is actually beginning. A "new school" in the best sense, with picked teachers and picked pupils is to be the outcome at Lake Placid Club within the next few years.

Dr. Dewey was a well known educator long before he founded the Lake Placid Club as a poor scholars' retreat three decades ago. The humble little retreat has grown into a great private resort. But the founder is not satisfied with mere success. Here is the way he puts his dream.

"Most competent authorities now agree that the millennium can never be brought about by soldiers, police or legislation."

"We must make people prefer to live better and want the big influences...and this can only be done by education."

"Our greatest economic mistake is in trapping so many of the world's teachers before they have rendered their full service. The course of the world is shaped by its millionth man."

"But this potential millionaire man is often lost to the world because he has not been found and trained for his great possibilities. We propose to find these millionaire men and women. Through them we can change the future of the nation."

The Lake Placid Club plans a new center of education, research and pleasure, and a new method of protecting the world's teachers and preachers and world leaders."

At school we learned that "The newspaper has got to think" and "Well taught is a good teacher." His plan seems a new center of education, research and pleasure, and a new method of protecting the world's teachers and preachers and world leaders."

JUDGE FOR STATE CHAPLAIN

County American Legion Convention Endows Local Men — Meeting Decided for Defense Day.

Determination to back Rev. J. A. Judge of Oneonta as a candidate for state chaplain, provided he would consider running, was made at the annual county convention of the American Legion held yesterday in the rooms of Clark F. Simmons post at Cooperstown. Captain Judge is deservedly popular with the legionnaires of the county and the movement to endorse him for the position of state chaplain has been progressing for some time.

It was decided at the meeting to tax each Legionnaire in the county one dollar to defray the expenses of delegates to state and national conventions. Heretofore the delegates have defrayed their own expenses. A resolution was passed endorsing the National Defense day movement and urging all citizens of Otsego County to cooperate in making it a real success.

Delegates to be at the state convention, to be held at Alexandria Bay on September 4, 5, and 6, the following were chosen: James Botsford and Everett Williams of Richfield Springs; Clyde Haynes of Cooperstown; George Silvernail of Unadilla; Rev. J. A. Judge and Dr. Lyman S. Delamar of Oneonta. The following alternates were selected: Matthew McLean and Homer Southworth of Richfield Springs; Alvin E. Johnson of Cooperstown; Donald H. Grant and Raymond M. Tucker of Oneonta. The alternate from the Unadilla post will be chosen at a later date.

The representatives of Oneonta post at the convention were Dr. George W. Augustin, chairman of the county committee, and Donald H. Grant.

Funeral of Mrs. S. K. Higgins.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Samuel K. Higgins were held Wednesday afternoon at the family home in Portlandville. There was a good attendance of friends and neighbors and her pastor, Rev. Mr. Summers of the Portlandville Methodist Episcopal church was the officiating clergyman, reading appropriate scripture selections and in a brief address paid fitting tribute to the memory of the departed. Interment was in the mausoleum in the Plains cemetery, the bearer being Guy McLaurie, James Williamson, Arthur Perrine and Earl Eggleston.

Nobody Objects to Arrangement.

The report is current about Schoharie county, although not officially confirmed, that the State Highway Department has finally decided to advertise and let the Summit-Jefferson and Cobleskill-Sharon highways this year. Both roads are needed and nobody objects to that arrangement. That step should have been taken long ago. It can be done. — [Richmondville Phoenix.]

Girl Reported German Fleet Off Falklands

London.—When Admiral Sir David Sturdee's naval squadron defeated the German squadron off the Falkland Islands in the late war, it was a woman who first of all gave the information of the presence of the German fleet in those waters, according to Admiral Sir Percy Grant.

A fisherman told the woman he had seen ships approaching the islands from the south. She sent her maid on horseback to investigate, and the maid verified the statement. The information was at once telephoned to the governor, and he transmitted it to

OLD U. S. CLOTHES WORN BY SOUTH SEA ROYALTY

Apparel Given to King and Queen by American War on State Occasions.

Port Angeles, Wash.—A South Sea Island king and his consort still "strut" in some ancient garments an American navigator gave them 20 years ago. As the clothes are worn only on state occasions they are certain to last another quarter century.

In 1901, Capt. and Mrs. Harry Thompson were married and set sail for a trading trip to the Palau Islands in the South Pacific ocean, 2000 miles from Sydney, N. S. W. Following a period of serious drought the 13 islanders of the group faced a food shortage at the time when Captain Thompson had to. The schooner was met by a cannibal bearing the king and queen, both begging pitifully for food and gifts of clothing. The royal stooges were promptly filled, then the task of dropping the weather-beaten shoulders of the honor guests.

Long anxious to gain the confidence of these rulers, Captain Thompson took the black, single-breasted coat, the wedding habit of the mariner, while Mrs. Thompson parted with her gray crepe gown bedecked with silk sponges and passed them on to the royalty.

For 20 years the Thompsons enjoyed prosperous trading with the islands and almost from the day they befriended the king the islands began to recover from the dry spells of several years.

Now there is a gigantic business with many countries for the Palmerston stones produce every tropical fruit, pearls, coffee, tea, spices and coral.

Recently the Thompsons, now retired from seafaring, again visited their South Sea friends. The king donned the old coat, now frayed and with but few buttons remaining; the queen wore the old-fashioned spangled skirt, and thus arrayed entertained their company.

CRIME CAUSED BY DEFECT IN BRAIN

Irrregularities in Diseases Glads Also Factor, Say Scientists.

Washington.—The tendency to regard criminals as irresponsible persons, more to be pitied than punished, grows with every discovery of science. Not so long ago we were surprised to learn that individuals with a criminal bent are victims of irregularities in their thyroid glands. Now we are told that crime is caused by a physical defect in the brain.

The man who puts arsenic in his wife's tea, or the woman who shoots a recalcitrant lover, cannot be regarded as a normal individual. According to the new dictates of science neither could help committing murder any more than he could help breaking out into a rash if he had chickenpox.

"Character, mood and conduct are largely determined by the performance of the endocrine glands," the gland advocates assert. The thyroid gland, especially, is held responsible for the sort of emotional instability which finds outlet in romantic homicide. In other words, the shooting of sweeties they say, can almost always be explained by a defective thyroid. The pituitary is another gland of the endocrine system which plays an important part in the conduct of homo sapiens. Let it get out of order and a criminal impulse is apt to be the result.

Criminal Victim of Glads.

Among the champions of the gland theory of crime is Dr. Charles E. Davenport, director of the eugenics record office, who declares that society should not hate or desire vengeance on a criminal, since he is so clearly the victim of his glands. He favors locking up the criminal out of harm's way, but treating the man with pity as the product of unfortunate chemical reactions not under his control.

On the other hand, the idea that emotional instability is almost always due to a defect in the lower brain has been learned exponents. It has been suggested by such widely separated authorities as Lombroso and William James, but it has remained for two well-known criminologists of Chicago to give it practical application. They are Harry Olson, chief justice of the Municipal court of Chicago, and Dr. William Hickson, head of the psychiatric laboratory attached to the criminal division of the Municipal court. Experiments covering a period of ten years and dealing with over 40,000 cases, have convinced these experts that the lower brain holds the key to antisocial behavior.

Brain a Two-Story Affair.

Their proposition is very simple. The human brain, they point out, is composed of two principal parts—upper and lower. The upper part is the seat of the intelligence; the lower part is the seat of the emotions and will. When the mechanism of a man's lower brain is imperfect he is unable to exercise normal control over his emotions, and his moral judgments are confused. Although his upper brain may be normal or greater above the normal in intelligence, the defect in the actual gray matter of his lower brain entitles his conscience so that he has a faulty perception of right and wrong. Just as there are all degrees of intelligence so there are all degrees of immorality.

Some authorities believe that one part of the brain is highly developed only at the expense of the other. Thus persons of exceptional intellect often display little or no moral sense, while persons of great moral virtue are frequently dull.

The Chicago experts have such firm belief in their theory that they are anxious to have certain "moral tests" introduced into the public schools. An expert examination of school children would show, they claim, who would become criminals and who would not. Furthermore, it would be possible to predict, they say, what particular line of crime the potential criminal would head for—an arson, swindling, burglary or murder.

While neither the gland theory nor the lower brain theory has as yet been applied to the schools, both are gaining headway in the criminal courts. Examination by doctors of medicine—especially doctors of mental therapy—are not almost as common in important criminal cases as cross-examination by doctors of law. A recent murder case in Chicago, for instance, is said to be employing about five times as many doctors as lawyers.

While the experts are not yet agreed on the precise nature of the glandular body's crime, it is becoming more difficult to secure a conviction of murder in the first degree. Always in criminal cases the law presumes that all persons are sane. Hence, when the criminal or his counsel admits the actual commission of the act but denies responsibility on the ground of insanity, the burden of the proof rests upon them. In a short time, however, it may be the other way about. One juror predicts that the law will come to regard every criminal犯人 from lower brain or gland defects, and he will have the devil of a time proving his sanity and thus retaining his liberty on bail, as he does at present.

The Question of Intent.

From time immemorial the most important question in criminal cases has been that of criminal intent. In other words, did the accused intend to commit the crime or did he do it inadvertently? If, in proving right from wrong, he deliberately planned and contrived the crime, then there is no doubt that he is guilty. But if he cannot prove that he is mentally unable to form a criminal intent—because of insanity, or drunkenness, fatigue and weariness—he is not regarded as guilty under the law.

Eliminating Evidence.

In attempting to prove the irresponsibility of individual criminals courts strange theories have sometimes been advanced by doctors employed by the defense. In one notable case an attorney disputed his client's guilt with the smaller dimensions of the head of the accused, which he gave as proof of insanity. His testimony concerning head measurements and mental damage seemed so absurd to the district attorney that the next day he stopped at a famous hat shop and obtained a list of confectioner's trinkets. When the anthropologist next came on the stand the district attorney handed him the trinkets, asking him to state whether or not they represented the heads of insane persons. The anthropologist was at once positive that they did.

The district attorney then announced that they were the head measurements of several of the city's most successful men—"including those of his honor, the judge, who presides in this case."

That crime is the result of grave physical defects is not, as has been said, a new theory. Lombroso had much to say on the same general subject years ago. Through examinations of thousands of criminals in the prisons of Italy and through numerous autopsies, he came to the conclusion that the criminal invariably possessed some physical abnormality. He not only stressed the importance of the shape of the head, but he also tabulated arm and leg measurements, peculiarities in the formation of the ears, and other features. Gradually he evolved several criminal types which he claimed could be easily distinguished from the normal run of humanity.

Later, his views were challenged and eventually discredited, especially by police officials, who declared that out of a dozen individuals selected from a courtroom it would be impossible to tell—from a physical examination—who were criminals and who were respectable citizens. Now, however, Lombroso's ideas are being revived as a result of new discoveries pertaining with regard to the endocrine glands.

It is known that the thyroid gland controls the architecture of the human body. A markedly defective thyroid also causes physical abnormalities. It also causes crime. Ergo, the criminal is physically defective, just as Lombroso noted under his control.

New Camera Pictures

Projectiles in Flight

Washington.—The bureau of standards has designed and constructed a new camera which is able to photograph projectiles in flight. It is not possible to take a clear picture of very rapidly moving objects on a stationary film, because in the interval during which the film is exposed the image of the object moves sufficiently to blur the picture. The new camera overcomes this difficulty by causing the film to move approximately the same velocity as does the image of the object. Hence, there is no blurring of the picture.

The bureau explains that to obtain a number of pictures several lenses are placed in a line at right angles to the direction of motion of the film and a focal plane shutter is so arranged that the images from these lenses are allowed to fall on the film in succession. This gives a series of pictures of a stationary object which lie diagonally across the film. However, if the velocity of the image is the same as the velocity of the film, the picture of the moving object will lie across the film perpendicularly to the direction of motion.

More Historic Homes

Boston.—Henry Ford has bought two more important New England landmarks. Two early homes at North Kingston, R. I., built about the middle of the Seventeenth century, already are on their way to Sudbury, Mass., where they are to be rebuilt. Sudbury is in the site of the famous Longfellow Wayside Inn, which Ford owns. The houses are known as the Sanford and Congdon places. The Sanford place was erected about 1680. Richard Smith built the Congdon place as a trading post in 1690.

A large number of cases are involved.

Paints on Web of Spider

Berlin.—What is regarded as one of the most singular works of art in existence is now in the possession of a Berlin dealer. It is a painting 6 by 4 inches, executed in a spider's web and preserved by being clamped between two plates of glass, so that one can examine it on both sides. The scene depicted is that of a happy family sitting together.

Elk Annoy Farmers

Wenatchee, Wash.—Elk, said to be adept at scaling fences and making short work of ordinary haystacks, are troublesome to farmers near Okanogan. Organized groups repeatedly have driven the elk herds back into the forests by driving black shells over their heads, but with the return of ruttime the animals revisit the farm lands.

Fate Unkind After Hardships

Without money and anxious to fulfill his wife's dying request that he take his three-year-old baby Roy to her husband's parents in Norway, George Hansen of Pueblo, Colo., set out on foot for New York. Kindly motorists aided him, but on bad road regions he carried the child in his arms. He found he could work his way to Norway, but they wouldn't take the child. Now Hansen is walking back to Chicago where he hopes to work and save for passage money for the child.

BOOT HELPS ONLY RUN OF GAME AT WILKES-BARRE

Wilkes-Barre, Aug. 14.—Faber's boot of LaLange's grounder in the ninth inning gave Wilkes-Barre the victory in the tightest game of the season today, 1 to 0. Schreiber and Wilcox pitched well. The Colonels' catch of Fortier's liner prevented a run for Harrisburg in the eighth. Edquist started the ninth inning rally for the Barons with a single to center. Jenkins sacrificed and Wilcox singled to right. Walters was intentionally walked and LaLange grounded to Faber, who dropped the ball and Lingquist scored the lone tally. R.H.E.

or Dollars?

You can bank dollars. Hopes for future riches do not buy bread and butter.

The investment that promises to "double your money in a month" — make you rich overnight — is merely another name for speculation with a capital A.

Somewhere the promoters never share alike. The old adage — "The bigger the claim, the bigger the risk" is a true one.

So why speculate?

There are a number of sound, safe investments offering a reasonable return that will add to your income year in, year out.

May we not point out the difference?

FORESTRY FIELD DAY

Notable Addresses by National Leaders in Movement and Inspection of Pine Grove Reforestation

EVENT LARGELY ATTENDED

Speakers Command Editors of Congressman John D. Clark in securing Passage of Clark-McNary Western Forests by Congress — Day Ideal for Pictures — Some 181 Acres Which Have Been Restored Since Gathering—Forest Fire Annuals Denude 100,000 Acres, the Speaker Asserts.

Followed by a long speech and a keen discussion, the speakers in the forestry field day at the Pine Grove farm, the largest and most northern section of the great forest empire and playground of the state, among those present were a wide area and finding the address brief and pointed and the actions of the Department which have been received, equally interesting and an important instructive. The 100 acres of Mr. Leonard had not the most accessibility in Delaware county, but the highways were plainly marked and the hundreds of motorists who journeyed to the scene enjoyed the departure from the well-trodden paths along the interminable trails and found no difficulty in reaching the Pine Grove farms.

The crowd was late in reaching the place, but there were no speeches in the morning, but the early arrivals lost no time in making their way to the various fields which have been planted. All were supplied with programs which embraced on one of the pages a sketch of the farm showing the plots and the kinds of trees upon each, with the year in which it was reforested. The State Conservation commission also had an interesting exhibit arranged in the grove of native pine, which is 40 years old and in which the exercises were held. Experts were at hand to explain the blister rust and the weevil, the two enemies of the pine trees, with specimens of their work. Sample trees of various years standing were also shown and a striking figure in the setting was a model of a monument in white cloth which bore this inscription:

"In memory of the millions of white pine babies killed by blister rust. Their little bodies have rotted and passed away unseen by us. Little trees are as necessary for our future forests as babies are for the strength of the nation."

Admirable were the arrangements made for the comfort of those attending. Ample parking space was provided and State Troopers from Troop C were in attendance to direct traffic and in the grove tables had been constructed for the use of picnickers while there were booths provided where one could purchase hot dogs and hamburg sandwiches, coffee, milk, ice cream cones and soft drinks. Those not finding seats at the tables gathered in little groups about the grove and seated on the ground cushioned with braches and mosses more to enjoy their picnic lunches.

C. G. Dumond, the owner of the farm, welcomed the picnickers and contrasted the appearance of the farm when he purchased it for a song some years ago and commenced the reforestation project with it when he as a boy lived upon it. He told of the giant pines that once were there, from which great logs had been cut and voiced regret that we are so fast depleting our forest lands. He said that the people of this country are growing only 24 per cent of the wood products being consumed and that if future generations are to have their needs supplied we must plant more now. We save 15 years or more by planting ever trees grown from seed. He said there are now over 200,000 trees which have been planted up on the farm and that by constant vigilance the damage of the blister rust and weevil have been reduced to a minimum.

G. H. Colgate, extension agent of the federal department of agriculture, was the second speaker and spoke on the importance of the tree as a stock that is needed as a factor in the production of the manufactured products of the nation. He said that the pines which are used in paper products should be used in pulpwood to end up as paper pulp and that the pulp mill industry has the highest percentage of any nation, with all the woods required for our rains needs given by the lumber mills.

Those who have been in the past and the question of buying a supply for future generations is dependent upon the support we give to the reforestation movement. If as many believe, we are now the chosen people of God, it is an obligation upon us to leave to those who follow us a better world than we found. We have said the same thing in previous years, but the time has come when we must make a notable success of the institution.

one class of which seek to retain their official position by compromising and false promises to this or that element of society, which does not wish to destroy public confidence in the government. is that it was not until that day that I do not believe that so long as there was any man, representative, or legislator that secured the enactment of any law, he made no promises but he left no conditions or guarantees at Washington, but he believed for the interests of the people always are. he tribute to the work for reforestation of Congressman Clark was roundly cheered.

Soon after my appointment to the speaker, I pointed that there were many difficulties met with in a measure for launching a definite comprehensive plan for a national forest policy, and I mentioned the following points to the speaker:

ROTARIANS AT OWOEO

Southern Tier City Members Rotarians Entertain Local Men at Country Club.

Anxious to repay Oneonta Rotary for its hospitality upon the recent occasion of the visit of Owego Rotary to this city, the Oneontans invited them to a Tuesday night and the visit of about 20 local men to that city was made a continued round of pleasure. The affair was held at the Oneonta Country Club.

The Oneontans left the city at about 9:30 a.m. and had luncheon at the Arlington Hotel in Binghamton, arriving in Owego about 2 o'clock. Golf furnished diversion during the afternoon for most of the men. Refreshments had been offered by the Owego men and were won as follows: High net score, $15. Dr. L. Curtis Dennis, two golf balls; low net score, $12. Dr. David H. Mills, folding office chair; silver loving cup.

The speaker of the evening was Rev. C. E. Brown, a member of Cooperstown Rotary. Mr. Brown spoke convincingly and eloquently of various phases of Rotary activities and his remarks were much enjoyed. One of the principal entertainment features was a selection by a quartet composed of "Dave" Mills, "Bert" Lauren, "Frank" Herieff and "Jay" Bookbent. Their harmony was reported to have been too close for comfort.

The Oneonta Rotarians who made the trip were Dr. Charles P. Davis, W. Morton Bertrand, L. Jay Boutinot, Roscoe C. Briggs, Hon. L. P. Butt, Dr. George J. Dunn, Rev. L. C. Coffey, Harold R. Ford, Herbert C. Getman, Dr. Norman W. Gethman, Frank M. Gurney, Frank A. Herieff, A. E. Hewell, A. O. Ingerham, M. G. Keenan, Dr. L. S. Lang, B. C. Lauren, C. C. Miller, Dr. David H. Mills, A. E. Rosenblum, Arthur Schulte, G. Edmund Turner, Eugene L. Ward, Jerry B. Wilson, and Ralph S. Wyckoff. Guests of the club were Rotarian C. E. Brown of Cooperstown, James Simpson and E. J. MacEvitt of Oneonta and Wood D. VanDerWerken of Owego.

TIMBER SPENDTHRIFTS.

Easy Proof Obtainable That Ours Is a Wasteful Nation

If any proof was needed that we are a wasteful nation, it could be found in the way we handle our wood resources. A leading lumberman of the west states that more timber is destroyed by decay than by fire. A prominent entomologist declares that insects destroy more timber than is lost by fire.

According to the best available data forest fires destroy 2,250,000 bd. ft. of timber annually, more than the state of Pennsylvania uses. If as much timber is lost by decay and as much by insect attack as is lost by fire, we have three times as much as is burned or 6,750,000,000 bd. ft. This represents about one-eighth of the timber used in the United States annually. In other words, we lose every year a 45-day supply or a one-year supply every eight years.

If all these losses came from our remaining stands of virgin timber they would be equivalent to a deduction of three years from the 25 years that our virgin forests will last at the present rate of depletion.

In addition to this, a greater source of waste exists in the methods of manufacture. It is estimated that the present average of lumber in our under better known processes of reduction would amount to the growth which 170,000,000 acres of our acreage forest land produces annually.—The New York State College of Forestry at Syracuse University.

MORE DOUBLE TRACK PLANNED

D. & H. Company to Construct Second Track between Harpurville and Binghamton, Report Says.

Binghamton and Harpurville will be joined by a double track instead of

D. & H. and Friddies in the Binghamton area for freight handling will be increased in the program of improvements to be instituted soon, it was stated on an official source.

From Harpurville through to Delanson on the main line of the Susquehanna division of the D. & H. are double tracks with northbound and southbound traffic using their respective rails.

Between Binghamton and Harpurville, a distance of 29 miles, however, there is only one set of rails. Several crossings crossed each train and work trains can switch off the main line.

Plans for adding another set of rails have been under consideration for some time, it is said. Schedules for freight and passenger trains must be rearranged so that trains will not meet on the single track for the 22 miles in present conditions cause much switching.

Details of improvements in the yard and freight handling are not known here. Officials say that the D. & H. now much business from the Lackawanna and Erie for delivery east and west, and this business is expected to increase after the line is joined with the Nickel Plate at Binghamton as an easier outlet for western freight.
